

Introduction to Old Testament Interpretation 2/11/2011

This discussion section had 15 students, evenly split between Yale Divinity School students in the M.A.R. and M.Div. degree programs. The subject of the discussion section was literary criticism and the Hebrew Bible. Students had read several articles on the topic, and had also read sections of the Book of Exodus in advance of the workshop. It was fairly early on the semester, and thus was focused on both skill-building and on student engagement with the material.

The observer should complete this form and email it to the teacher who was observed at least two days prior to the post-observation meeting. After filling in the text boxes below, choose "Save As" from the "File" menu of Adobe Acrobat Reader. Rename the file "[your last name] observation of [teacher last name]" and save it to a location you will remember. Then attach the file to an email message for the teacher you observed.

Observer _____

Teacher Observed _____

Course Title _____

Observation Date _____

Concerning the teacher's preparations for class, I observed the following:

Concerning the teacher's instruction during class, I observed the following:

Concerning the teacher's interaction with students, I observed the following:

Concerning the classroom learning environment, I observed the following:

Concerning those particular issues the teacher asked me to study, I observed the following:

By conducting this observation, I learned the following two things about teaching: